10 Tips to MC any wedding.

1. Assume the position as leader of the party. Remind yourself that a leader's role is to serve
2. Over-prepare - weeks beforehand - by interviewing the bride and groom. Ask them 'What type of wedding reception are you looking for' and then go about making it happen. Of course, reading the book will help :)
3. Act confident - even though you may not feel it. Fake it if you have to.
4. Warm up your body and voice. This focuses your thinking on the job in front of you and gives you mental strength to eliminate the negative messages and replace them with positive ones.
5. Get to the venue early and introduce yourself as part of the team
6. Don't fight with a dud microphone - you will always lose the battle. Replace it.
7. Use your energy and enthusiasm to get everyone involved in celebrating this great event
8. Avoid letting hecklers win by letting them upset you; just think to yourself that they are jealous of your privileged position - but they couldn't do it themselves if they were asked. Most of all, don't show your anger.
9. Leave alcohol until after you have finished - except some champagne for the toasts.
10. Keep the focus always on the bride and groom.
